SPRING AND FIRST STREETS.
A ROUSING WEEK OF BARGAINS.
Greatest Six-day Sale on Record
Remember That This is the Greatest Week of All.
We quote the lowest prices ever known in this city.
This great sale will extend through every department in the house, and will be far-reaching in its effect. It is customary for some houses to take a few small items and name a very low price on them, and the sales on these articles would not amount to ten dollars a day. Our system is to take every article and make a leader of it. Mark it at a small profit, after buying it as cheap as it can be sold for, and this is why we can offer for this week—
Handsome long Newmarket tailor-made cloaks, made from heavy twilled diagonals, at $5, and they are well worth $10.
Beautiful tailor-made cloaks, goods that are worth from $13 to $14, at $8 50 and $7 50 each.
Bed comforts at 75c, 98c, $1 25, $1 50, $1 75 up.
Blankets at $3 50, worth $5. Blankets at $4, worth $6 50. Blankets at $5, worth $8, and blankets at $7 50 better than any $10 blanket in the city.
500 pieces flannels from the great New York auction sales. Now is the best time to buy flannels. Never before have they been sold so cheap.
VISIT OUR BIG CORSET DEPARTMENT.
A 50c corset for 25c. A $1 corset for 75c. Largest, cheapest and best line of corsets in the city.
We Continue Our Great Dress Goods Sale
For one more week. The past week was the largest we ever had. We intend this shall be still larger. We are better prepared to meet the demand.
This week we inaugurate our great handkerchief sale.
This week we continue our great sale of notions. Our entire
WINTER STOCK OF UNDERWEAR & HOSIERY
Is now in. We shall throw out big bargains in this department this week.
Our great six-day sale will bring the crowd.
A six days' sale throughout the entire house. A SIX DAYS' sale in every department.
Have You Guessed on the Jar of Beans?
Have You Guessed on Our Big Pumpkin?
A monster sale without an equal, extending over six days, giving our patrons the benefit of the most astounding bargains ever known.
All little girls are invited to guess on our pennies. Some little girl is sure to receive the prize doll. The big prize doll can be seen in our notion department. All are invited to call and see it.

THE PEOPLE'S STORE
MILLINERY DEPARTMENT
Is a Feature Worthy the Consideration of all Ladies Interested in Choice Headgear.
We have started out this season with the determination of making this department an object to every lady in the community can be suited with hats in proportion to the amount she desires to expend. We will make this the Millinery Parlor of Los Angeles. Our portfolios contain the latest and most artistic as well as the most costly and gaudy trimmings. Our birds and plumes, pompons, ornaments, trimming, velvets, plushes, ribbons, etc., are exhibited here. Our hats, bonnets and frames are so pretty in shape and design that they cannot but add to the beauty of the wearer. We have striven and succeeded in obtaining the
VARIETY AS WELL AS THE STYLE,
And our stock to-day is greater than any you will find in the first millinery establishments of the city. We have secured the services of a milliner (who came to Los Angeles purposely to assist us in this department), whose handiwork establishes her worth. She comes to us from one of the largest emporiums in this country, and brings with her the newest of style in millinery. She has been with us but a few days, but even in that short time has given most satisfactory evidence of taste, style and ability that we do not hesitate in saying that her work is not to be seen or found anywhere hereabouts, and those in search of choice hats will not be deceived in placing their orders with us.

DRESS GOODS
We have such splendid values to offer in this line that we cannot forego to mention a few of them. We have a line of superb quality dress silks, they are pure silk, with a rich and brilliant finish, in fifty shades, which we have sold heretofore at $1 50 and $1 75 a yard, and at these prices were considered a bargain. We will sell them on Monday and during this week only at 99c A YARD.
A line of brocaded silk velvets will be slaughtered at $1.00 per yard.
A few shades of silk plush will be sold for 75c a yard.
In dress goods we quote half-wool plaids 12½c a yard. Combination suitings 15c. We shall place on sale long ere they last a line of brocaded combination in Empress cloths at 25c a yard. These goods are beauties and the cheapest we have ever shown.

CATARRH!
A NEW TREATMENT BY
R. R. DAVIS, M. D., M. C. P. S. O.
Graduate of "Chicago Homœopathic College," Illinois, and member of the "College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario," Canada.
HOMŒOPATHIC SPECIALIST of Diseases of Ear, Nose, Throat, Chest, and all Chronic Diseases.
TREATMENT.
Starting with the claim now generally believed, by the most scientific men, that the cause of disease is the presence of living parasites in the tissues, we devote our treatment chiefly destroying them. The catarrh is cured by mucilinic fluid and we use no medicine either in spray or inhalation, or both, as the case may require. We use no steam or no vehicle for our inhalant one, which tends to make the patient take cold more readily than before treatment, but uses a new apparatus, by which no steam can be avoided. Fully one-half to one-third of so-called consumptives are only a catarrh and can be cured by our new method.
The results of this treatment in nasal catarrh are surprising, when it is remembered that but five per cent of cases are cured by the ordinary practitioner, and consumptives never record a cure at all. Our special remedies are usually required to the blood, liver, etc.
Consultation free. If impossible to visit us offer a treatise and list of questions will be sent by mail.
The following testimonial of a gentleman well known in Los Angeles, who has a law office at 40½ North Spring street, will show how quickly catarrh can be cured:
This is to certify that I am a regularly qualified physician, but not practicing, and have always believed cases of the chronic nasal catarrh to be an incurable affliction, but hearing of Dr. Davis' new treatment and his success, I applied to him for medicine and determined to try it to the case of one of my family, both of whom had suffered severely, as improvement was immediate, and permanent relief and cure followed. The case was of years' standing and of a very severe type. I can recommend Dr. Davis to the afflicted. S. HALEY, M. D.

1280 acres for $5 per acre.
1772 acres for $5 50 per acre.
320 acres for $7 50 per acre.
The above lands are almost level; only sufficient slope for drainage. They are all damp lands; water on any of them at six feet, and there is in artesian belt; abundance of water in from 200 to 400 feet. The soil is a black sandy loam, capable of producing anything, but are especially adapted to alfalfa and wheat. A portion of the land is now covered with wild grasses. We refer especially to the 6775 acres. There is not one foot of waste land in the whole lot, and no other lands in California so cheap and so good, and not one acre in the whole lot that will not bring alfalfa per acre in the next five years.

CONSUMPTION
And all the various diseases of the
HEAD, THROAT AND CHEST,
Together with the EYE, EAR AND HEART,
Also all Chronic Diseases, and Diseases Incident to Females, Successfully Treated by
M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M. D.,
M. C. P. S. O.
Graduate of Victoria College, Toronto, Ontario; Licentiate Physician in and for the State of Michigan; also member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario; for three years Associate Physician of the Chicago and Chautauqua Throat and Lung Institute; for fifteen years, and still, proprietor of the Detroit Throat and Lung Institute, and for several years Proprietor of the Ontario Pulmonary Institute and Health Resort at Toronto.
CONSUMPTION.
The earlier symptoms of this disease are a sense of weariness upon little exertion, a disposition to remain passive and idle, a peculiar sensitiveness to the effects of cold and a shortness of breath upon moving quickly or ascending a hill or stairs, a slight hacking cough, with or without expectoration, flying pains through the chest, and a pain under the shoulder blades. The symptoms are sometimes reversed during the night, slight fever in the afternoon, cold feet and hands, and in many cases blue lividity of the lips and roots of the finger nails.
The more advanced symptoms are wasting of the flesh, paleness and fever, night sweats, expectorations of yellow pus from the ulcers or cavities in the lungs with or without the presence of the chest, insurmountable weakness and at last a coating up of the air passages of the lungs, causing suffocation or suffocation of the patient for want of power to expectorate the matter from the lungs.
If ever cure the treatment of consumption has been very unsatisfactory, both alike to the physicians and their patients, but lately since the discovery of the Koran system of treatment, by means of germ eggs, thousands of cases have been completely cured, where had it not been for this system of practice, utter failure to combat the evils of the disease would have continued up to the present time. The system of Medicated Inhalation is the only means by which these diseases can be cured. And they are recommended by the highest authority, both in Europe and at home, and here we would draw the distinction between Inhalation and Atomization. Some persons suppose they are the same in every respect, while nothing is further from the truth. In Atomization the liquid is scattered in the form of a spray, which only reaches the throat, while Inhalation, the remedy to be inhaled, medicates the air we breathe, and it is carried into the air passages of the lungs as ordinary air. By this means we are enabled to dissolve the hardened mucous in the lungs, save the cough, facilitate expectoration, counteract and heal ulcers and cavities after all hope of cure by the ordinary methods is past. Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedy at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever. The greater portion of consumptive cases in the first stage can be radically cured.
Consultation free and price within the reach of all.
The very best of references given from those already cured. And we would particularly urge upon our Eastern friends the necessity of direct medication—Inhalations—as well as the most favorable climatic influence, if you wish to avoid the sad experiences of hundreds of invalids who depend upon the climate alone, as nine cases out of ten die in consequence of this very thing.
Those who desire to consult me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impossible to visit the office personally, may write for "List of Questions" and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge. Address,

Office—Temple, Main and New High.

THE Buckeye was abroad yesterday—abroad at the polls.

CAPT. J. B. FORAKER is not so old as George Headly, but he got there all the same.

THE battle of the bandana is ended, and the encarnadined flag of Thurman has gone down to rise no more.

OH, YES, John Sherman is an "iceberg," but an almighty torrid one—a sort of a semi-tropical floe, as it were.

UNDER the head of Ohio there is some exceedingly entertaining reading for Republicans in our dispatches this morning.

THE Democratic howl against John Sherman and the bloody, shirt didn't win in Ohio; it was just so much wind wasted.

THERE is balm in Mount Gilead (Ohio), and the label, blown into the glass of the bottle, reads: "Republican Medicine—Sure Shot for Democratic Pizen."

W. S. HOBART and Uncle Jimmy Fair are both candidates for the Senate in Nevada. They are nine or ten-millionaires, which is an excellent thing for the average member of the Legislature, who is there for revenue mainly.

THE Detroit Free Press recently published the charges contained in the complaint in an action for divorce, and the defendant in the action sued the newspaper for $25,000 damages. A sympathetic jury has just awarded the injured person six cents damages.

NEW YORK CITY is agog again to know where Ward's millions came from and where they went to. The air is burdened with mysterious rumors, and honored names are soiled with suspicion. Let us have the facts, and as little loose and injurious gossip as possible. If Ward and his associates have any statements to make, the courts will be only too ready to hear them. Heretofore the difficulty has been to pry open their mouths.

THE project for a National monument to Grant, to be erected in Riverside Park at a cost of a million dollars, is a failure. The sum so far collected amounts to but $83,000, and the prospect of securing $917,000 more is mighty poor. Two big mistakes were made in this enterprise: First, the figure fixed upon was too large for a popular subscription, and needlessly large for the purpose. Second, the selection of New York City for the site killed enthusiasm for the cause.

IN a speech the other day at Winchester, General Fitzhugh Lee said: "I thank God that white-winged peace now broods over the land. I came here to preach peace and not war; to carry as my standard the stars and stripes, and not the bloody shirt. I thank God that the question of secession is forever settled, and that now, at last, every star in our glorious old flag has a meaning. I thank God that no vestige of carpet-bagism or scalawag government remains to vex the people." And then he resumed his cavalry march through the State, riding on Robert E. Lee's saddle, with an escort of Confederate horsemen from place to place.

OSWALD OTTENDORFER, of the New York Staats Zeitung, who was a Cleveland elector last year, says in his paper that the defeat of Hill is amongst the possibilities, and thereupon remarks:

We can reconcile ourselves to such a defeat, because the Democratic politicians will thereby be given to understand that the success of the party depends necessarily on its unbiased support of true reformatory principles, and that the old machine tactics will no longer be tolerated.

Ottendorfer appears to be preparing a line of retreat for the Democratic army of the Empire State.

THE Chicago Railway Age says a surprising awakening of activity in regard to railway building has become evident. The year opened with gloom and depression in business circles, but confidence has already been so far restored that money is beginning to seek with eagerness investment in railway building. The Southern States are awakening to new life and hopes, no less than 178 lines, with a proposed aggregate of 9000 miles, being reported in the ten States east of the Mississippi, commonly included in the South. An immense mileage of new roads is called for throughout the country and is certain to be built.

THE CABLE ROAD.

Successful Trial Trip Over the Second Street Line Yesterday.

At 4:05 o'clock yesterday afternoon two cars started from Second street for a trial trip over the new cable road. They bore a number of invited passengers, including four members of the City Council, Messrs. Miles, Brown, Sinsabaugh and Holbrook, representatives of the press and others. President Hall, Treasurer Wilmer and Secretary Yarnell, of the Cable Road Company, and Messrs. Thompson and Brown, of the Construction Company, were on hand to officer the expedition and entertain the passengers. The road is 6607.3 feet long, and the trip out was made in fourteen minutes. The regular running time, when everything settles down to business, will be not to exceed 12½ minutes. The machinery worked very well, for new machinery. The jar was slight and the noise of the cable nothing to speak of. At the switches the cable was dropped and taken up again without difficulty or delay. Some new and ingenious devices for operating the road, never before used on cable roads, will be put into use shortly.

On the return trip the cars "stalled" on the steep grades beyond Bunker Hill Avenue, for want of power, caused merely by negligence at the engine-house in not taking up the slack of the manila cables on the great driving-wheel, causing them to slip and fall in their work. This defect was promptly remedied, and on the next trip out everything worked satisfactorily.

The cable road is therefore a grand success, and all concerned—the builders, the company, the stockholders and the public—are to be congratulated on its completion.

The TIMES has heretofore published a full description of the road and its machinery, but now adds a few more points to show the magnitude of the work: The machinery has cost $98,000, the grading $12,000, and the whole road $77,500. Of concrete work alone there are 3740 cubic feet, and the amount of earth removed in grading is something enormous. The engine used is an 80 horse Cortiss of modern style and the best make, capable of being increased to 150 horse-power. The boiler was manufactured at the Union Iron Works in this city, is of the diameter of 52 inches, 16 feet long, and made of 60,000 tensile-strength iron. The smoke-stack is 30 inches in diameter and 50 feet high.

All the machinery is massive, modern, and especially suited to the work it is required to do.

The question of fuel for the engine has not yet been finally decided by the managers. They have their choice between wood, coal, oil and brea.

The rolling-stock consists of four closed and four open cars. They will stop at all populated street corners.

WELL DONE, OHIO!

The Buckeye State Strongly Republican.

AND FORAKER ELECTED.

Democratic State Committee Throw Up the Sponge in Disgust.

GREAT REPUBLICAN GAINS.

The Legislature all Right, and the State Ticket Carried by 21,000 Majority.

Annotated From Dispatches to The Times.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13.—The election in Ohio to-day was for State and county officers, for thirty-seven Senators and one hundred and ten Representatives of the General Assembly and upon four amendments to the Constitution, changing the State elections from October to November, and one changing the term of office for township trustees. Governor Hoadly is the Democratic candidate for re-election, J. B. Foraker the Republican candidate and Rev. A. B. Leonard the Prohibition candidate for Governor. There are 2017 voting precincts in the State. A comparison will be made with the vote for Governor in 1883, when Governor Hoadly was elected by a plurality of 19,539 over Foraker.

Below will be found a complete list of the nominees for State officers: Governor—Democratic, George Hoadly; Republican, J. B. Foraker; Greenback, G. W. Northrup; Prohibition, Dr. A. B. Leonard.

Lieutenant Governor—Democratic, G. B. Warwick; Republican, General R. P. Kennedy; Greenback, M. B. Cooley; Prohibition, W. G. Frost.

Treasurer.—Democratic, Peter Brady; Republican, J. C. Brown; Greenback, R. M. Harman; Prohibition, John H. Hanna.

Attorney General—Democratic, James Lawrence; Republican, J. A. Kohlis; Greenback, William Bixby; Prohibition, A. T. Clearinger.

Judge of Supreme Court—Democratic, C. D. Martin; Republican, J. A. Minshall; Greenback, General Beach; Prohibition, Gideon Stewart.

RAIN LOWERS THE VOTE.

The election in this city began without any disorder. Up to 10 a. m. no arrests have been made. Two causes contributed to this result—the division of precincts so that not more than two of three hundred voters are in any one, and the rain, which prevents the crowds from collecting. All judges were provided with printed lists of what are considered fraudulent registrations, and the voting was watched with care. Rain was reported almost all over the State last night and to-day. This will doubtless have the effect to cause a light vote throughout the State.

The polls will close at noon, but wet weather was reported as prevailing in the northern and central parts of the State.

FORAKER GAINS IN CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13.—Returns from 60 wards and precincts show Foraker 3035, Hoadly 2039, Leonard 597; net Republican gain, 543. The vote for Leonard is irregular—large gains in some precincts, with no vote at all in others, and a few losses.

9:30 p. m.—Eighty-eight wards and precincts give Foraker a total of 10,804, Hoadly 7923, Leonard 856; net Republican gain, 976.

9:45 p. m.—One hundred and fourteen wards and precincts give Foraker 17,627 votes, Hoadly 13,778, Leonard 1291; net Republican gain, 1671.

DEMOCRATS VOTING THE PROHIBITION TICKET.

It is impossible yet to compare the sources of gain of the Prohibition candidate, but a cursory examination of the returns so far received indicate Democratic losses where there are Prohibition gains. In other words, so far as can now be seen the Prohibition vote is drawn from both parties.

FORAKER AWAY AHEAD.

Two hundred and fifty-eight wards and precincts give Foraker 39,402, Hoadly 34,850, Leonard, 3,956; net Republican gain, 3,960.

273 wards and precincts, Foraker 58,-297, Hoadly 43,138, Leonard 4,438; net Republican gain, 5,495.

TOLEDO GOES REPUBLICAN.

TOLEDO, Oct. 13.—The vote to-day averages 10 to 15 per cent less than that of last year. The Prohibition vote was small in the city and showed scarcely any increase. The returns are coming in very slowly on account of the large number of scratched tickets, but the indications are that the Republicans have carried the city by a handsome majority, somewhat decreased pluralities from last year. The exceptions are Wade and Foraker for Governor, and Sherman for Lieutenant for Representative, are believed to be elected by a small plurality.

ROSS COUNTY WHEELS INTO LINE.

CHILLICOTHE, Oct. 13.—Ross county will give 150 Republican majority. The Republican Senator and Representative have been elected of their ticket, and the whole Republican county ticket is elected.

FORAKER 2000 AHEAD IN CUYAHOGA COUNTY.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 13.—The indications are that Foraker has carried Cleveland and Cuyahoga county by about 2000, and that the Republican county ticket is elected by varying majorities. All over the Western Reserve substantial Republican gains are shown, and in only one town, Oberlin, has the Prohibition vote caused a Republican loss. A full vote is now polled here, the election being without incident.

FIFTY REPUBLICAN GAINS.

ENLARGED SHEET.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1885.

Ohio Has Spoken,

And her voice is again unmistakably Republican. The result of yesterday's State election appears, from the dispatches published elsewhere in the TIMES, to have more than borne out the most sanguine expectations of the Republican leaders. We have carried the State by a plurality of 15,000 to 20,000, electing Judge Foraker Governor over both Gov. Hoadly and his Prohibition ally, Dr. Leonard, and securing the Legislature by a fair working majority in both branches. This is a glorious result, and insures the election of a Republican United States Senator to succeed John Sherman — and he will doubtless be his own successor — and arrays Ohio squarely against the administration of President Cleveland, since the indorsement of that administration was made an issue in the canvass at the special instance of Hoadly as leader of the Democratic forces.

The Prohibitionists, who had loudly boasted of their ability to double or treble St. John's vote of 1884 (11,069), appear to have fallen down, failing utterly to wield that balance of power which they fondly deluded themselves was within their grasp. The outcome of the fight, so far as that disturbing element is concerned, is in the direction of eliminating it from the politics of the State as a distinct party. The verdict of the people of Ohio, so far as the temperance issue is concerned, may be construed thus: They will trust the matter of restricting, regulating and controlling the liquor traffic to the hands of the reliable Republican party.

The news from the gallant Buckeye State is good enough for one day. The Republican banner is once more to the front, full high advanced, and the first gun of the coming volley which shall knell the death in 1888 of the lately-resurrected Democratic party has been fired.

Now for New York! The portents of Republican victory in the Empire State are unmistakable. Ohio's magnificent achievement of yesterday will go far to influence the result in New York; and if so be it that Mr. Cleveland's own State shall also go against him, then indeed will he have received a deeply-discolored optic in the first year of his accidental reign.

AT Agricultural Park last Sunday, on the occasion of the broadsword contest between Ross and O'Brien, there were three or four gambling games in full operation, including faro, dice, a roulette wheel, and we know not what other sorts. Who is responsible for this? Under the strenuous pressure of popular sentiment, gambling has been effectually suppressed in the city, but the police department has no jurisdiction beyond the city limits. If the arm of the law is to be invoked to suppress gambling in Agricultural Park, which is out of the city, the Sheriff's office must be appealed to. No doubt the Sheriff and his deputies would willingly oust the gamblers if application were made to them by the proper parties. Do the lessees or directors of Agricultural Park desire to have gambling suppressed there? If not, do they consider that they are ruining the character of the place, so that respectable people will not go there? Two or three years ago the public were assured that all gambling games were prohibited in the Park, and that thenceforward the place would be thoroughly respectable. But it seems that the old regime is to be restored.

COL. FRED GRANT has made an effective rejoinder to certain statements uttered by Ferdinand Ward for the purpose of creating sympathy for himself and making capital against the Grants. Col. Grant mercilessly exposes some of the lies of the colossal scoundrel, and shows by figures that both he and his father took out of the firm of Grant & Ward less money than they put into it; that when he (Fred Grant) first knew Ward the former had $57,000; "now I owe $500,000 through his treachery;" while General Grant was mercilessly swindled from first to last, his disease brought on and his death hastened by the treachery of Fish and Ward.

ITEMS like the following from the Chicago Inter Ocean remind us that winter is coming on apace beyond the Sierras:

JACK Frost may come any time after this week and find 2,000,000,000 bushels of corn too hard for any ordinary bite. That insures griddle-cakes, corn-dodgers, hogs and whisky for another year at least.

Summer birds are leaving early, corn has heavy husks, the muskrats are building warm nests, and ex-Senator Hamlin is reported to have purchased an overcoat. All are indications of a severe winter.

THE second annual fair of the Los Angeles Agricultural Association was successfully inaugurated at Downey City yesterday. In consideration of the paramount importance of the interests represented, the TIMES gives a large share of its space to-day to an account of the opening proceedings and a list of entries. The address of Stephen M. White, Esq., which is given in full, is graceful, strong and philosophical.

THE FARMER'S LOT.

Considered from the Standpoint of a Lawyer.

AND DIVESTED OF THE USUAL GLAMOUR.

Address of Stephen M. White, Esq., Before the Los Angeles Agricultural Society at the Opening of the Downey Fair.

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: When I was requested, by those of your number who had the matter in charge, to address you, I promptly acceded to the invitation, because, during the decade just past, I have found and made many good friends among you. And believing that your action in choosing me to carry out that part of to-day's programme which I am attempting to fill, was due to the prevalence of kindly sentiments similar to those entertained by myself, I concluded, without hoping for marked success, to do the best that limited resources, coupled with the demands of a somewhat busy life, would permit.

Such exhibitions as the present are not peculiar to our age or country. They seem to have been customary wherever the march of intellect and the blessings of peace have afforded an opportunity for the exercise of the husbandman's art. The same spirit of competition which has encouraged the soldier, the poet, the orator, the painter, the sculptor and the statesman has ever permeated all classes of mankind.

The successful pursuit of agriculture is inconsistent with the extension of idleness and the consequent growth of crime. I can recall no historical instance conflicting with this view.

The fierce northerners who crushed the Roman dynasty, and impelled the perpetuity of the discoveries and inventions, and all the results of the literary and scientific labor of preceding civilization, not only paid little heed to tillage, but looked with contempt upon the man who did not carry a sword and spear. Indeed, in many parts of Europe, until the crusades absorbed the fiery warriors who claimed universal attention, respectability and husbandry were not known to exist. Ignorance was often preferred to learning, and acts, criminal in themselves, were frequently styled praiseworthy. But as reason gradually overcame the impetuosity of passion, people reflected that they possessed moral and mental as well as physical characteristics, and that it was, or ought to be, more decent to raise grain and fruit than to butcher men, women and children, and confiscate their estates.

A little experience demonstrated that the new order eventuated in wealth and tranquility, and the fruitfulness of the soil was discovered to be the basis of the nation's happiness.

Barren hillsides, until then attractive only as places of warlike advantage, were planted in vines and trees, the matted grass of the valley yielded to fields of golden grain, and the hum of the harvest suppressed the turmoil of unmeaning strife.

Even those whose warlike achievements fill pages of the world's story, depended for sustenance upon the products of the earth.

I believe the statement is pretty well sattisenticated that the annual supply of corn which Egypt furnished to Rome reached twenty millions of bushels. Nevertheless, the lordly consumer did not look upon those who relieved his necessities with the respect which the cultivated intelligence of future ages accorded the farmer's avocation.

And now, when the profession of arms is well nigh ignored, when we advocate only that which is promotive of order, thousands flock to every considerable town in our land during these harvest times to compare and exhibit their productions.

The wish "to show what we can do" impregnates nearly every breast, and even the casual observer concludes that the development of agricultural resources means the amelioration of the general condition, and that the commercial status of every country is pretty accurately indicated by reference to its fruit and grain productions.

I do not propose to enter into an elaborate discussion on the various questions pertaining to the agricultural and horticultural employment. As well might my granger friends essay to deliver a lecture on the law before a meeting of my legal brethren. Though the days of my boyhood were mostly spent on a ranch, I have never sought for any reputation beyond that which is connected with my usual occupation. Hence, do not expect me to speak of the specific peculiarities of your soil; to tell you how many kinds, and what quantities of fertilizing material are essential for this or that quality or kind of grain. Do not expect me to inform you what steps you must take in order to raise bigger pigs or better corn, or how you can increase the production of bacon, or anything of that sort. Nor, although a baby show seems of late to be somewhat popular in conjunction with agricultural fairs, do not expect me to dwell upon the various circumstances attending the denouement and growth of those infantile prodigies who are at once the delight and annoyance of their parents, the terror of old bachelors, and sometimes, too, of old maids, and the sworn enemies of ceremony and good order. I am more competent hands I confide these interesting and complicating topics.

It may not be improper for me in this presence, perhaps, in a moment of leisure I might be listened to with more than common attention, to express some of the thoughts which have been, in a measure, suggested by the train of reasoning which I am now retracing.

This display is a farmer's display. It is not born of the doctor's skill; not talked into life, or begotten because of the eloquence of the advocate. Even the mechanic has had but a limited share in its advent. And all this result of your energy is good in itself, good in its consequences, and measurably tends to help your fellow creatures.

Then, is not your position satisfactory? And is not the calling which you follow, in the course of which these good things are brought into being, an honorable and enviable one? This question, I assume, will be answered in the affirmative. Yet you who have worked, and are working, not alone for your individual subsistence, but for the well-being of others, are you not somewhat uncertain whether it is better to be a farmer than to be a professional man, or a merchant or tradesman? Maybe you have a son who attends your public school. He has considerable talent, is at or near the head of his class; he can repeat a poem or a speech better than any one of his age in the neighborhood; he has the material in him to do well, and to be a man of influence, if his abilities are directed aright. But how often is it assumed that such a boy ought not to stay on a farm? He must be a lawyer, perhaps. It may be that he really has the qualifications which will win him an eminent place in the ranks of the law; and if so he ought not to disregard his vocation. But in cases out of ten the determination which leads to the adoption of that profession is a mistake. The young man drifts into expensive habits, his practice is meager, and he is ultimately compelled to rely mainly upon the purse of the "old man," an expression supposed to be synonymous with father.

So another youth thinks he must be a doctor, and, if the requisites for eminence are wanting, the case will turn out the same way. His receipts will be homeopathic, while his liabilities will partake of the allopathic character.

The ranks of the professions are always full. In this State, and especially in San Francisco, there are hundreds of young lawyers, and many young doctors, who are not, and never will be, of the slightest value to themselves or their country. There is, and always will be, as has often been stated, room in the higher walks. But a one-horse doctor, or a poor lawyer, or a drunken and ragged civil engineer, are next to a misguided minister, the most wearied and wearying of mankind.

There seems to be a curious and foolish idea prevalent that a farmer is not quite as fine a gentleman as a professional man, as if gentility or goodness are circumscribed by any such narrow bounds.

I suppose a man can be a gentleman and be a farmer. I suppose he can be a ruffian and be a doctor. Why, it is just as ridiculous to say that more gentlemen are found among lawyers than among farmers as to say that all lawyers are dishonest, and all farmers are honest.

I bought a bag of potatoes not many days ago—not from a lawyer, either. I opened the top, and the contents looked finely, and I made the trade. But on further investigation I discovered that two-thirds of the sack contained the poorest and most diminutive and worm-eaten of the potato variety. Well, my friend came around again to sell me another lot, but that time I turned the bag upside down and opened it, and then I had him cornered. He excused himself by saying that he did not understand how so many small potatoes got into the sack; he supposed it was due to an infernal Chinaman whom he had employed—he favored a more vigorous enforcement of the Restriction Act—and declared it outrageous that an honest man should be subjected to such mortification. But I could not get him to refund the sum I had expended on my first purchase.

Gentlemanly conduct and honest action are not the inheritance of any class or of any avocation.

A newspaper man, even, is not, as generally is supposed, incapable of stating an unvarnished tale. A lawyer will not always deceive you. A farmer will not always palm off a bag of bad potatoes upon the unsuspecting purchaser. A doctor will not always kill his patient to insure the collection of an exorbitant fee. The stockman will not always prevaricate as to the characteristics of the stock he is engaged in selling. The grocer will not always give a compound of brown chicory and beans for coffee. The fruit man will not always fill the lower part of his strawberry box with inferior berries. The saloon-keeper will not always give you "bottled lightning" for the best bourbon, and those advocating temperance do not invariably take that which is stronger than water. In other words, the bad and the good are mingled in every walk of life. There are ladies and gentlemen in this world of trouble, but few whose situations are such as to preclude a wish for a change.

The man who supposes that he will be thoroughly satisfied if he is occupied in this or that manner, or if he attains success in his projects, is indeed mistaken. At best, life is a continuous struggle, the fairer moments of which are illumined by the luster of that which is hoped for. The delights of the present are so called merely because we trust that they may be continued.

The most ambitious of men—those who have felt the unquenchable thirst for power—have never claimed contentment, even where their extravagant aspirations have been in the main realized. The stream of their lives flows through the vale of tears.

On the little brooklet early childhood launches the baby bark. It glides along the rippling tide. Tender, grassy swards align the banks, and pretty butterflies and gay-colored birds charm the untutored fancy. The slender vessel passes downward until it is changed for the larger craft which essays to pass the bolder stream of youth. Flushed with boyhood's longings, his foot upon the prow, his hands invaded to grasp the shadowy realities that on either bank, the young voyager longs for the day when he may seize with stronger grasp the weapons and the shields of manhood. Pleasing to the sight is the prospect before him. The varied bloom of numberless flowers greets his eye. The trees are filled with songsters, whose charming strains load the fragrant air. Onward, yet onward, until he sighs for the stream of existence flows through the plains of manhood, and there are displayed the fanits of a tranquil and honest life. There is nothing there to engage a mere enthusiast's vision. No great prizes are offered on this or that shore. But to those who are satisfied to follow the ways of goodness and law, the seasons present untold attractions. The destination of those who follow this course is happiness and rest. But the other branch of the great river carries the grasping and unduly ambitious to treacherous shoals. The torrent is turbid, heavy clouds impend, and the neighboring forests, cloaked in gloom, furnish no entrancing vision. The raging tide bears on its human freight, not by fields of delight, but through tempestuous caverns, and in the midst of nocturnal horror, the unhappy voyager combats with many powers, though in vain, his passions and unruly desires, the foes of his race. Then, when the battle is not yet determined, though no rest has lightened his labors, he reaches the spot where the silver hand of age whitens his locks, and the corroding breath of years fans to his spirit, and cools his thereto-fore invincible ardor. He passes yet downward. He is fast nearing the stormy and unfathomable ocean, upon whose bosom none can live. Vainly does the toilsome traveler seek to avert his fate. Pulling against the tide he tires yet more and more, until he succumbs, and listlessly gazing towards the gloomy future, he drifts, drifts, drifts, until he passes beyond the reach of mortal ken.

This is the story of all those whose restless spirits have inhibited even partial contentment; written perhaps in variant phrase, the result never varies; and indifferent careful as we may be to the history of others, we can rest assured that like conduct will invariably bring about a like result.

To tell the truth, we cannot suggest an employment which is absolutely congenial. And yet, if we ascertain, as we can, that for which nature has most nearly fitted us, and act accordingly, a close approximation to success, as far as an occupation is concerned, will have been attained. The useless and aimless drones whom we sometimes see are among the burdens of society. You have probably had occasion to observe that peculiar phenomenon which is designated by the name of "dude," otherwise defined to be a young man who is useless, save by way of illustration.

Well, when I notice, or hear, or read of one of these mundane impositions and compare him with the strong and active hard-worker, I find that the latter is not only helping to sustain the State, and doing everything that a man should do, but that he is indirectly supporting the worthless fop, and while I do not doubt that the latter would not so demean himself in his own little mind as to have any intercourse with a sensible person, yet I imagine that no rational being would maintain that the status of the dude was preferable to that of an honest laborer.

That nothing desirable is obtained without effort, you know from the experiences of your own business.

You must also be aware that the professions are exacting. In fact, as I have stated, little that is truly valuable has ever been produced without the exercise of considerable exertion.

The doctor whose practice is large expects at any moment to be dragged from his comfortable bed to attend the sick. The loathsome scenes which he is compelled to witness, and in which he is to some extent an actor, are such as to injure his health, and compel with his responsibilities, naturally prey upon his mind.

The lawyer who does his duty, and finds his hours fully occupied, never has any actual rest. He is thinking of how to win his case, of how gain for a client the property or liberty involved in litigation. He is always engaged in endeavoring to solve some intricate and interesting legal conundrums. An easily made error may ruin the friend who has trusted him. He must reach his own conclusions as to the merits of the controversy, must then weigh the strength of his adversary, and consider the proposition as to the judge's decision, and calculate upon the uncertainty of the verdict. It is this sort of care, as much as anything else, added to the excitement incident to it, which impairs the health of the best American lawyers, and hurries to an untimely grave the choicest intellects of our bar.

I have stated that the tendency of the agricultural calling is antagonistic to the growth of crime. This follows from the general proposition that a man who is occupied, in some steady and honest employment, necessarily has his attention so engrossed that he has little time or occasion to transgress the rules of propriety.

Sometimes we look upon those who are so wealthy, that work is to them an immaterial consideration, with envy, or at least feeling that we would be happy to exchange places. Our children are unfortunately often taught, or at least indirectly learn from us, to regard those favorites of fortune as models, and do long for the time when they too may win the alluring toys of this seeming prosperity. But I believe that the statement is generally admit, is not easy to find, do not discard him for some one who is untried, and maybe untrue. An office, the result of popular choice, ought to be something to which honorable men might aspire. And remember that if it shall ever be that those who are honest will not seek official promotion, you, by reason of your more extensive power, will be largely answerable for the disaster. I know that there are numerous deleterious influences to meet. I know that your votes may be offset by the ballots of vendible miscreants. I know that the cohorts of ignorance often outnumber those of intelligence. But yet a just fight must ultimately be won for justice.

A few days ago I was engaged in the trial of a case in this county where three witnesses, all young men, born within a few miles of this spot, and all over the age of twenty-one years, were unable to state whether Los Nietos was a part of California or of Mexico. No foreigner has any right, under our laws, to become a citizen unless the Judge who admits him is satisfied that he is attached to the principles of the constitution of the United States. And a citizen who is native born, should, it appears to me, have some notion, general though it be, of the country in which he lives, and of its institutions. It would seem that the man who is not aware that he lives within the jurisdiction affected by the constitution of the United States is not very fully qualified to aid in the enforcement, support or maintenance of that grand instrument, and cannot very well know whether he is attached to it or not. The history of that which I have spoken, though comparatively few, are unfortunately far more numerous than they ought to be.

The remedy for these evils is not intricate. Education and proper moral training will soon eradicate the disorder. I have added to the requisite of education the word "moral training," because I believe that scientific knowledge alone will not suffice. Education, in that sense, will make a more accomplished villain; but not a better man.

Of course, the character of crime committed by learned persons is different from that detected in the lower grades of society. A man of letters will not steal a five-dollar horse, and subject to the risk of the State prison; but if ill-disposed, he may embezzle the funds entrusted to his care. Desirous of committing the crime, he will gradually abstract from his employer's safe a sum large enough, in his opinion, to compensate for the risk. And when the spoils are great enough, he will betake himself to a place of safety. He may, perhaps, forge his friend's name; not for the purpose of squirting a dollar, but to make a fortune. His education will teach him that petty crime is a poor speculation, whereas, he will reason, that a great one offers a promising a higher reward, may be worth chancing.

There are, as nature teaches us, ways and means by which life may be made brighter and better. There are methods of existence superior to others. There are modes of happiness and pleasure of enjoyment all about, in no manner inconsistent with any duty. The "base Indian who threw a pearl away richer than all his tribe" had perhaps never learned as ample field for success, as that allotted to us, but he did not take advantage of his circumstances.

Did you ever reflect that, notwithstanding all you have done or are doing, those who will succeed you may smile at your verdancy, and wonder that you knew so little? Your own experiences cannot but suggest the rapidity of modern improvement. Where your corn raises its high and luxuriant top, where your walnuts and oranges and vines flourish, where your unrivaled productions are garnered, where your gardens and your homes beautify the prospect, where your schoolhouses resound with the music of young, ardent and joyous life, how few years ago herds of stock roamed. The land was virgin. And even the streams which now supply needed moisture, were permitted to run until they met the sea. Lands that are valued to-day at hundreds of dollars per acre were then priced at so many cents. A scattered and non-advancing population gazed with ceaseless wonderment at the restless activity of the invader, and viewed with aversion the new order of things which indicated the obliteration of ancient customs in the whirlwind of progress.

You, citizens of Los Nietos, have clearly shown that you fully understand the requirements of your situation, and are determined to occupy observed places in the van of its improvement. You have done much. You have much to do.

Los Angeles county is to-day worth in dollars and cents than any other county in the State, save San Francisco, and its suburb, Alameda. We are destined, in a few years, to take the second place, in point of population and wealth, in the fair sisterhood of California's counties, and will certainly hold it the first honors in the contest for general prosperity.

Now, let me give you, in parting, what I think you will all say is sound advice: Continue your good work; improve your fine estates, see that your children are well trained, let them adopt those employments for which they are fitted by nature, whether in so doing they tread in the mechanical, mercantile, agricultural or professional path; avoid those affrays and neighborhood difficulties, which, if you are not careful, may be developed among you; compromise your disputes without spending your time in expensive and aggravating litigation; and as the days roll by you will wonder, when looking at your pleasing environment, how you were able to accomplish so much in so short a time.

STOCK RANCH FOR SALE.

THIS RANCH CONSISTS IN 160 ACRES of best black river bottom land, lying 2 miles southward from the village of Tipton and 3½ miles from Tokay switch. The ranch lies in a perfect square, three-fourths of a mile each way, and is all under hog-tight fence. It has one division fence running through the middle. The river runs through one side of the tract, and a ditch runs through the other, rendering irrigation unnecessary for alfalfa, but easily irrigated if preferred. Alfalfa sells good for $10 per ton. Good hay is worth $7 per ton, including hay, buildings, etc. Half cash down, the remainder on easy terms of payment.

MONTE VISTA. NEW COLONY AND HEALTH RESORT.

Located in a Beautiful Valley at the Base of the Mountains, Sixteen Miles North-west of Los Angeles.

Choice Locality for a Quiet Home in the Shadow of One of the Finest Live Oak Groves in Southern California.

NATURE'S SANITARIUM.—Dry, invigorating air; pure mountain water, abundant and never-failing. Elevation 1500 feet Consumption and all kindred diseases cured without medicine.

POINTS OF EXCELLENCE.

First—Soil of unsurpassed fertility, adapted to the growth of all semi-tropical and deciduous fruits and vines.

Second—The best water at 30 and the largest supply per acre flowed with the land of any colony in this section.

Third—Prices 30 to 50 per cent lower than elsewhere.

Fourth—The healthiest spot to be found at the foothills or among the mountains.

This colony is only eight months old, and during its time over six miles of iron pipe have been laid for conducting water, and about one-fourth of the irrigable lands have been sold to actual settlers. Health and pleasure seekers will find this a desirable spot to spend either winter or summer months. Those who desire to purchase land and make a pleasant home are invited to visit Monte Vista before purchasing elsewhere. For this accommodating purpose we will run daily stages to and from Monte Vista and Los Angeles. Commencing October 15, will leave the Monte Vista Hotel Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 1:00 p. m., and arrive at Los Angeles at 4:00 same evening. Returning, leaves Los Angeles at 8 a. m., and arrive at Monte Vista at 11:00 same morning. Passengers may take the hack at either of the real estate offices named below.

All orders intrusted by purchasers of land after leaving Los Angeles, including back fare and hotel bills, will be returned from the purchase price. The following real estate dealers residing in the city of Los Angeles are authorized agents for the sale of Monte Vista property,

Surprising Things Industries

Influences the value of your real estate. Any person who has a dollar in land, or selling, should know that in the petroleum centers of our county lie the future greatness of this city. The Oil Burning and Supply Company, with their Etnaeda oil burners, are creating the demand for our petroleum product, and giving to the public a fuel unequaled by any other. Be wise, therefore, and put Etnaeda oil burner.

Don't Be a Workingman Should Buy an Etnaeda Oil Burner.

It is cheaper than any other fuel.

It cooks quicker and better fire.

Saves you buying a new stove.

It saves splitting kindling, building fires or getting out ashes. And last, but not least, it makes it nothing while to greet you on our return home from your day's work.

Weather Report.

Local Bulletin.—At 4 a. m. yesterday the thermometer registered 54, at noon 78, and at 8 p. m. 63. Barometer for corresponding periods, 29.89, 29.93, 29.91. Maximum temperature, 78.5; minimum, 50.2. Weather at 8 p. m., clear.

Signal Service Indications.—[By telegraph from San Francisco at 8 last night.] The signal service reports the rainfall in this city for the last 24 hours up to 8 o'clock to-night to be 30 hundredths of an inch; weather now clear. Reports received from various points on San Francisco Bay state that slight showers have fallen there. Indications for the succeeding thirty-two hours: North Pacific Coast, fair weather with light variable winds, generally northwesterly. Middle Pacific Coast, cloudy weather and rain, followed by fair weather with variable winds, generally northwesterly along the coast. South Pacific Coast, generally fair weather with light to fresh winds, generally westerly.

A Splendid Offer.

In order to increase the already very large circulation of the Los Angeles WEEKLY MIRROR, the publishers have decided to offer as a premium to each yearly subscriber who pays $2, a copy of Stephenson's map of the county of Los Angeles and parts of San Bernardino and San Diego counties. The size of this map is 23x30. It was issued this year, and is the most accurate map of this section ever published. It shows all the townships, sections, cities, towns and hamlets, rivers, creeks, mountains, harbors, large ranches, mines, railroads, including the Atlantic and Pacific and its proposed routes, and has a thousand other features of interest and value to residents of Southern California. It is alone well worth the subscription price and is the finest premium ever offered by any paper in the State. Taken in connection with the fifty-two issues of the MIRROR, an eight-page paper with over sixty long columns of reading matter of the choicest kind, it will readily be seen that this is an opportunity which rarely occurs. Avail yourselves of it. The maps will be mailed to any address on receipt of $2.

Go to the Downey Fair to-day.

A party of five from Lowell, Mass., arrived by the excursion train yesterday morning in five hours less than seven days, including a lay-over of fourteen hours in Chicago, caused by missing connection. This looks like first-class express time.

BRIEFS.

The Supreme Court convened at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Charles E. Steel, a native of Germany, was yesterday admitted to citizenship.

J. H. Levering's perjury case comes up in Justice Austin's court again to-day.

Opening exercises of the College of Medicine, at Nadeau Hall, this evening.

Prof. John Murray will give a reading in the Baptist church next Friday evening.

McCurdy and Morrows, for fighting, were fined yesterday $5 and $1 respectively.

Michael McCain, for a case of drunk and disorderly, paid a fine of $5 in the Mayor's Court yesterday.

Michael Stack, who stacked himself rather belligerently on top of Walter Bloom, paid $5 for the distinction yesterday.

Officer Bell overhauled a sneak-thief yesterday and captured a buggy robe which the fellow was making off with. The robe awaits its owner.

J. W. Rowland, a victim of consumption, died at the Sisters' Hospital last Saturday. His body was embalmed by Foust & Orr, and will be shipped East by express to-day.

Eugene Hunt paid over thirty-five big round dollars yesterday on conviction of drunkenness, disorderly conduct and battery. It all grew out of a difficulty with his woman, who is an inmate of a house on Alameda street.

Sheriff Andy Snodgrass, of Ventura county, arrived in the city yesterday and will start back to-day with the three jewelry robbers captured here last Saturday. He identifies one of the culprits as a resident of Santa Paula, and whose family are now there.

Pedro Llanes, the boy who tried to poison his "patron" at Sepulveda by dosing a bucket of drinking water with strychnine, was before Judge Chenoy yesterday, and entered a plea of not guilty. His bond was fixed at $1000 and the case set for hearing November 10th.

Complaints are on file at the police office about sundry piles of building material in various portions of the city which form dangerous obstructions in the streets and are not provided with proper beacon-lights at night. If builders are not more careful about these matters, some of them are going to be arrested.

A Prospector Gone.

Al. E. Schieffelin, one of the famous Schieffelin brothers, discoverers of the Tombstone mines, died at his mother's home, in East Los Angeles, yesterday morning, at 5 o'clock, of consumption. Al was concerned with his brother Ed, not only in the original prospect of Tombstone, but subsequently in prospecting expeditions in Chihuahua, Mexico, and on the Yukon river, Alaska. Deceased was 36 years old. The funeral will take place from the family residence at 2 p. m. to-day.

DOWNEY FAIR.

Opening of a Fine Agricultural Exhibition.

LARGE ATTENDANCE FROM THE COUNTRY

Extensive Showing of Thoroughbred Cattle—The Exhibit at the Pavilion—Proceedings Yesterday—The Races.

The Second Annual Fair of the Los Angeles County Agricultural Association opened yesterday, at Downey, successfully. The improvement in the arrangements over those of last year, are very noticeable. The Association has fenced in twenty-seven acres of land for race track and stock stalls, and secured a large pavilion for the agricultural department. The attendance yesterday was light from the city, but good from the surrounding country. It was admitted by all that the fair presents one of the finest exhibits of agricultural products ever made in this county. It is well deserving of a visit, and there should be a good attendance from town to-day. The accompaning list of entries will give a good idea of the variety of exhibits. The proceedings in the afternoon consisted of an opening address by President Davis, Stephen M. White's able address, a full report of which appears in another column, and a few closing remarks by John Dolland, of Norwalk:
